MEMORANDUM

CPS

Please read this and then pass it to the Charter Task Force.

It is a very interesting presentation, far more intelligently done than the vast majority of offerings these days, but I find the message just as unpalatable as most in that it misses the single most important issue: that moving too quickly or unthinkingly in implementing the rights of individuals could produce a level of risk to the community at large that is unacceptable. In other words, the real impact of all these changes on our war-fighting capability (hence deterrence) is almost totally ignored. We have a tough job ahead of us!
